Date of entry 08/30/2019

The interviewing agents asked [REDACTED] to provide additional details regarding her first interaction with DONALD TRUMP when she was approximately 13 to 15 years old, in either New York or New Jersey, and while also in the company of JEFFREY EPSTEIN. [REDACTED] clarified that when she previously said TRUMP struck her after she bit him on the penis, she provided further details that he, "pulled [her] hair and punched [her] on the side of [her] head."

With respect to [REDACTED] mother, [REDACTED] (deceased), [REDACTED] recalled her mother spent approximately two years in federal prison in Columbia, South Carolina around the time [REDACTED] was 17 or 18 years old. [REDACTED] mother's sentence was related to an embezzlement conviction connected to being blackmailed by JEFFREY EPSTEIN and JIM ATKINS over explicit photographs of [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] asked whether EPSTEIN had a sibling. The investigating Agents inquired as to what made her think he had a sibling. [REDACTED] replied she recalled there was a man, possibly a brother of EPSTEIN's, that she recalled from the past.

Since the sexual assaults [REDACTED] suffered at the hands of EPSTEIN and his associates, [REDACTED] was threatened on numerous occasions by unidentified people she believed were connected to EPSTEIN. [REDACTED] mother was also threatened on numerous occasions prior to her death. The first incident [REDACTED] could recall occurred in approximately [REDACTED] when [REDACTED] was 16-17 years old. [REDACTED] was living in a suburb in South Carolina at the time. [REDACTED] mother had been arrested for embezzlement, and could not pay the restitution. [REDACTED] called ATKINS at the University where he worked (unidentified) to ask him for help. She recalled she asked him why he "fixed" her mother's real estate books, only to later turn her mother in [to the police]. ATKINS responded to [REDACTED] by stating words to the effect that, he did not, "give a shit if you end up in the gutter. Don't ever contact me again. Your mother knows what will happen."

[REDACTED] recalled threatening telephone calls primarily began to occur after [REDACTED] gave birth to her daughter in [REDACTED]. Several calls listed as "No ID" on her Caller ID system were made to [REDACTED] telephone. The voicemail content primarily included only "noises"; however, during one call, a man (unidentified) stated, "Fuck you. You better keep your mouth closed." The man subsequently hung up. [REDACTED] was threatened, "sometimes every two years, then at random times." [REDACTED] never recognized the voices during the telephone calls, but she was certain the callers were not EPSTEIN, ATKINS, or TRUMP. The callers did not have heavy New York accents. She clarified that EPSTEIN did not have a heavy New York accent in general; however, he said certain words with an accent.

In approximately [REDACTED] [REDACTED] mother "fielded" threat calls as well, made by individual(s) telling her to leave the Island [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] mother was most likely also threatened in person; however, [REDACTED] did not have specific information regarding any in-person threats. One of [REDACTED] mother's previous husbands, [REDACTED] also received at least one threatening call at some point (no further information).

The last call that [REDACTED] characterized as threatening occurred in approximately December or January [REDACTED], while [REDACTED] was working at [REDACTED]. A co-worker received a message on their work landline that was intended for [REDACTED]. The man on the message stated he was either Kevin or Keith, and that he was calling from [REDACTED] doctor's office to check on her. [REDACTED] only listened for a second, and did not hear the entire message. [REDACTED] doctor had no idea where she worked and would never have called to check on her. [REDACTED] stated she told her daughter about the call, and her daughter subsequently called the doctor in an attempt to confirm the call to [REDACTED]. The doctor's office stated they did not call to check on [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] told her boss she had to take her daughter and leave immediately. [REDACTED] believed the incident to be threatening and related to EPSTEIN and/or his associates. [REDACTED] stated under her breath that if it was not EPSTEIN, maybe it was the "other one". When asked the identity of the "other one", [REDACTED] stated, "Trump."

[REDACTED] was asked several times if she could estimate how many times she received threatening calls that she associated with EPSTEIN and his associates. [REDACTED] could not provide an answer, indicating there were numerous threat calls throughout her life. In the beginning, the threats were "regular". They later became sporadic, and a year would go by in-between incidents. During the past four years the threats increased "a little" from "one, or the other". When asked to clarify what she meant by "one, or the other", [REDACTED] stated she did not wish to further discuss that comment at this time. [Administrative note: Immediately after indicating she did not wish to expound on the particular statement, [REDACTED] looked at her attorney and stated, "when he was running..." At that point, [REDACTED] attorney stated, "...more tracks to cover". [REDACTED] repeated the statement back to her attorney.]

[REDACTED] recalled receiving several "hang-ups" and a lot of brief telephone messages that included words to the effect, "we know where you're at, you need to keep your mouth shut." The people who called knew [REDACTED] mother was in a specific assisted living facility. [REDACTED] initially stated the individuals "possibly" called her mother; but when asked how she knew they were aware of her mother's residence in a particular assisted living facility, [REDACTED] stated they called her mother there. The call(s) to her mother included rude language about her mother's age and health.

When asked what made [REDACTED] think the calls were related to EPSTEIN/his associates, [REDACTED] responded that she did not think the callers ever said they were calling on behalf of EPSTEIN or TRUMP. [REDACTED] does not have any other issue in her past that would explain years of harassment and threats.

Since the threats began, [REDACTED] has had four to five "close calls" where she was almost run off of the road. One or two incidents occurred prior to [REDACTED], and one approximately two years ago. During the [REDACTED] incident, [REDACTED] and her mother were driving one night on Interstate 5 near [REDACTED] Oregon. It was dark and rainy that night. One car behind [REDACTED] repeatedly turned its lights on and off, then that car and another, both described as "nice, and black or blue", attempted to run [REDACTED] car off of the road. The car to [REDACTED] left was larger and had four doors. She recalled an 18-wheeler was driving in front of her at the time. [REDACTED] did not wreck her vehicle during the incident. After the incident her mom began crying, and [REDACTED] pulled over.

During the last incident, which [REDACTED] clarified may have happened two and a half to three years ago, she was driving on Interstate 5 toward her home in [REDACTED] Washington at approximately 6:00 AM to 7:00 AM (day of the week unknown). When [REDACTED] took the first [REDACTED] exit near a gas station and traffic circle, a male driver positioned his car, "on [her] ass" and, "slammed [her] car forward." The man ran [REDACTED] through the traffic circle where she blew out her tire and broke her mirror. She recalled she ran into a sign. The vehicle that struck her was a dark black or blue sports utility vehicle. [REDACTED] believed the driver to be a male due to the shape of the body she saw in her mirror. She stated the man was, "maybe White." After [REDACTED] wrecked she called a friend who lived nearby and told him she had no idea what happened. [REDACTED] did not call the police and to her knowledge no police responded to the hit and run. Employees (unidentified) from the Chevron or Shell gas station nearby (first gas station on left of exit) witnessed the incident and asked her on a later date what happened to her car (no further details provided).
